

EATING TAPAS • IN COSTA DEL SOL •

Have you been thinking about travelling to the province of Malaga?

One of the activities you can't leave out of your activities calendar is visit the best places to eat tapas in Costa del Sol. Tapas are an Andalusian gastronomic emblem, incomparable flavours bite by bite that allow you to have lunch at a very reasonable price in Malaga.

WHERE TO EAT TAPAS IN CENTRAL MALAGA

Although the majority of the tapa bars are located in the historic centre in Malaga, in area like El Palo & Pedregalejo, you can find the lifelong, traditional tapa bars; a unique opportunity to indulge Málaga's cuisine and to find out about the idiosyncrasy of these two popular neighbourhoods. Another area that's at its peak is the new Soho in the city, where recently opened modern establishments coexist with theatres, shops and a good sample of street art.

TAPAS IN THE INLAND OF THE PROVINCE

In cities like Ronda or Antequera, the cuisine tastes better, mainly because of the monumental character of both locations. The range of bars on offer is quite wide and in all of them you can tell that they have high-quality products on offer. Also in Benaoján, Montejaque, Monda, Tolox and Archidona you can taste traditional, exquisite dishes belonging to the Málaga cuisine.

CUISINE WITH LOVELY SEA VIEWS

Malaga Cuisine with lovely sea views? Sounds fairly appetising. In towns like Torremolinos, Nerja, Fuengirola and Marbella, eating tapas has become a sort of tradition. Fried fish, skewered sardines, Malaga salad, Olivier salad (Russian salad)... and so on to an extensive menu of tasty dishes. The climate, the views and the good atmosphere do the rest.
